July Bulletin 2013

Connections continue to be a thread through the bulletin. This month highlights the story of Ian who runs a very successful business, “Ride on Mary, Imbil Kayak and Bike Hire”. Ian has for some years also been responsible for a lot of renovations on the houses at the farm but the latest build is a corker!

A new structure can now be seen in the olive grove and it looks very comfortable amongst the trees. The chook tractor is made out of all recycled materials that together are light enough for me to assist the hen house travel around the paddock by simply placing the wheels at the back, picking up the two front handles and going for a gentle strole through the shrubbery.

What a wonderful time to be planting and working in the garden! The ongoing gentle rain has allowed me to plant large numbers of broccoli, broad beans, rhubarb, asparagus, onions, other greens and winter vegies. This has been the wettest winter since 1902, what will be next?

The Nambour Garden Expo is this weekend and as usual I am looking forward to catching up with a wide variety of people, selling new product and giving people the opportunity to taste some of our amazing varieties of tea and olive oil. Of course there is then the opportunity to spend the profits on must have plants and other important garden stuff!

From our place to yours,

Alexina.
